Disruptive behavior negatively affects the entire classroom and is unfair to the teacher and the other students. As such, PSR has developed a behavior policy. Each parent must review and acknowledge the policy through their signature on this registration form.

Behavior policy:

I agree to support the efforts of the PSR program by participating in my child's faith development. I understand that my child is expected to behave in class and that in the event my child is disruptive, the PSR teacher will take appropriate action. The severity of the disruption will determine the teacher's course of action.

Appropriate actions may include but are not limited to:

- Asking the student to behave (pointing out the behavior issue).
- Separating the student from the others or assigning seats to students.
- Calling the parent to retrieve the child from class.
- Scheduling a parent and student meeting with Father, the PSR Director and the teacher.
- Asking the parent to attend class with the child.
